Addison Red Cross Drive Opens Monday, November 11

Larger corps of workers than any previous year seeks contributions from everyone in community—Needs are great for community and world catastrophes—Elmer Bovee is chairman.

The annual Red Cross roll call for members for humanitarian service will begin in Addison Monday, November 11 according to an announcement by Chairman Elmer C. Bovee.

This is one of the biggest years in the history of the Red Cross. Heretofore they have been called upon for national and international emergencies but nothing of the magnitude of the present crisis when millions have been made homeless. Countless thousands of European refugees have no clothing to meet the rigors of the coming European winter. Other thousands are living a hand to mouth existence each day depending upon the Red Cross for food and shelter. The field force abroad has the biggest task in its history to perform.

And American dollars, united with the good wishes of the American people is doing much to alleviate the suffering of millions of people. In addition local emergencies are being met from funds collected in local communities.

Only half of the total money collected in each community goes to Washington, national headquarters for major disasters and relief. The balance remains in the community to be used for local welfare and for veterans relief.

This year more has been done by Addison women for the Red Cross than any year since the World War. Sweaters, hospital gowns, layettes, stockings and many other items needed by homeless and cold people have been handmade by various groups. This work will be expanded here during the coming months.

Chairman Bovee has announced that a corps of workers will begin the solicitations on Monday, Armistice Day and the workers hope to complete the drive in one week. There will be more workers this year than last year to make complete coverage quickly, according to Chairman Bovee.

Chairman Bovee has announced the list of women who will act as solicitors during the drive and form the Addison Red Cross Committee during the period of the solicitation of funds. The women and the streets they will tour in a house-to-house canvas are: Mrs.

Corning District Scouters Here November 13

Addison will be host to one of four round table discussions to be held through the Steuben Area for Boy Scout leaders. The Addison meeting will be held Wednesday night, November 13 in the Addison High School building with the Addison Scout Troop committee as hosts. This will be the first in the series of four to be held throughout the county. All Scouters in Corning District are invited.

Dr. John A. McNamara of Corning will be among the speakers at the Addison meeting. He is chairman of the Corning Boy Scout Board of Review and has long been identified with Scouting. Robert Mason, Almond, chairman of the troop publicity committee will also speak as will P. G. Schumacher president of the council. Men from Addison, Corning, Elkhart, Campbell, Painted Post, Westfield, Oseola and Savona are expected to attend.

Mrs. Bullock Entertains Past Deputy Presidents

Past District Deputy Presidents of Rebekah Lodges in this district were guests of past president Mrs. Harriet Bullock at a picnic dinner in her home Friday evening. Plans for a meeting in Hornell in December were made. After the dinner and a short program, the members played cards and other games.

District officers from Bath, Avoca, Wayland, Woodhull, Greenwood, Corning, Painted Post were present.

Lenox Fay in Naval School

Lenox Fay is in a United States Naval Training School at San Diego and not a preliminary school as was previously announced here. He was chosen for this school after completion of his first enlistment and at the beginning of his second school. Naval authorities considered his work of such character that they offered him opportunities to study.

Attend Dedication in Honeoye Falls Church

Several from Addison attended the dedication of St. Paul's Catholic Church in Honeoye Falls where the Rev. William J. Killackey is pastor. He was formerly located in Addison as pastor of St. Catherine's Church. Those who attended from here were Mrs. Daniel J. Colbert, Miss Catherine Horey, Miss Jessica Turner, Mrs. Rose Sheehan and Mrs. Edward Hill.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE

The first quarterly conference (November 14 at the Methodist Church), will be held Thursday evening. The district superintendent, C. C. Peale, will have charge of the officers meeting and members are urged to be present. A picnic supper will be served at 6:30.

Burma Missionary at Baptist Church Sunday

The Rev. Edwin T. Fletcher, for 15 years agricultural missionary to the land of Burma, will be special speaker in the Baptist Church, Sunday, November 10. Mr. Fletcher's work in Burma has been primarily with teaching the use of better farming methods in order to raise the level of living among these people.

Mr. Fletcher brings with him his wife and two children who will take part in the Sunday school hour singing in the language of the Burmans and speaking to the various classes. At present Mr. Fletcher is taking advanced work in the University of Cornell, Ithaca. The public is cordially invited to this service.

Jean Manson Wed in June

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Manson announce the marriage of their daughter Jean on June 12, 1940 to Bruce Kincaid Walton, Jr., of Salina, North Carolina.

Mrs. Walton is a member of the graduation class of 1936 of the Addison High School.

Mr. Walton is a graduate of the Salina High School and of the School of Aeronautics at Langley Field, Virginia. He is now stationed in Texas as a test pilot.

Election Registers Are Torn By Youths

Several pages of the registration book for voters of the First district of Addison were torn from the book and the cover destroyed by some persons unknown. The person who destroyed the pages should be dealt with severely for this represents several hours of almost irreplaceable work on the part of the election inspectors in that district. The pages destroyed were from A to H. The pages were later found torn and otherwise mutilated behind a sign in the lobby of the city hall. The books were hanging on the front door for the inspection of voters when destroyed.

Seniors Add to Funds From Harvest Dance

Seniors added to their "On To Washington" funds by virtue of the harvest dance held in the high school auditorium last Friday night. Miss Anne Flynn, class president, was general chairman for the program of round and square dancing. Decorations were arranged under the direction of Harold Hargrave, Keith Kizer, Peggy Knebel, Jack Casey, Esther Whitmore and Norman Newman. The music committee was headed by Andrew Dominick with Rosamond Caparulo and Doris Wormley as co-workers. The ticket committee was headed by Vivien Bliss with Winifred Thompson, Carol Greenfield, Hubert Dinny and Carlton Dart as co-workers. Publicity was in charge of John O'Connor, Virginia Wheeler and Grace Crane.

Methodist Women Plan November 14 Meeting

Miss Helen Smith was appointed to the flower committee by the women of the Society for Christian Service of the Methodist Church. The officers held a meeting to make plans for the general membership meeting on November 14. The officers met with President Mrs. Carl Vanderburg Monday night.

Boy Scouts Plan Hike For Armistice Day

Boy Scouts of Troop 27 are planning an all day hike for Armistice Day, Monday when the schools will be closed. Arrangements for the affair were made at a meeting held Monday night in Boy Scout headquarters. Scoutmaster Bernard Wilson was in charge of the meeting at which there were 17 Scouts present. Plans were made for participation in the high school assembly program Friday, at which the American Legion will present an Armistice Day program. Signaling for Second Class Scouts, first aid and tenderfoot advancement work was undertaken by various groups. Andrew W. Knebel, chairman of the troop committee spoke to the Scouts about Armistice Day.

Last of Old Main Street Bridge Torn Away Tuesday

Steel for the new Main street bridge should arrive in Addison within three weeks according to Charles Blair, engineer in charge of construction of the E. W. Foley Company, Inc., contractors.

While the men are waiting for the delayed steel, sewer lines are being installed and the demolition of the old bridge was completed. The last of the old bridge was loaded on trucks to be hauled away Tuesday afternoon and the approaches have now been cleared. Only piles remain in the river and these will be used by workmen during the construction of the new bridge. The north approach has been widened, curb lines have been established and water, sewer, gas and electric conduits prepared for their new positions. Concrete for the north abutment was poured a week ago.

Erie workmen have been in the community preparing to do their part of the work on the north approach to the bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowl Are 66 Years Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crowl of Tuscarora observed their 66th wedding anniversary Wednesday, November 6. Mrs. Crowl was formerly Rhoda Albee. Shortly after their marriage, they moved to the present location and have since been industrious and hard working members of the community. Mr. and Mrs. Crowl observed the day without fanfare or celebration, preferring to have a quiet day with their family.

Pomona Grange In Session

Pomona Grangers of Steuben County are meeting in Addison this week Wednesday and Thursday. There is an elaborate program being arranged for the visitors under the direction of their officers and of the Addison Grangers under the leadership of Master Thomas Kane, Jr.

Hon. George W. Pratt, surrogate of Steuben County, spoke Wednesday afternoon. He congratulated the group and spoke of their part in national life. The Rev. Mondula C. Johns of the Addison Baptist Church, will speak this afternoon, Thursday.

Wednesday night was given over to the conferring of the Pomona degree on a large class of candidates from the several Granges in the county. Opening sessions were held in the city hall. Seniors served dinner in the high school Wednesday night after which the Grangers adjourned to the auditorium for an evening meeting and degree when 400 were present.

The highlight of the session was the preparation for the National Convention in Syracuse, November 13 to 21.

'Les' Perkins is Myers Oil Co. Manager Here

Lester Perkins, has been appointed Addison and vicinity representative for the Myers Oil Company of Horseheads distributors of Cities Service products in the "southern tier" of New York and northern Pennsylvania.

Louis C. Myers, president of the company which bears his name purchased the business formerly owned and managed by Carpenter and Piper on October 28. Mr. Myers has seven distributing stations located in Addison, Corning, Horseheads, Owego, Sayre and Waterville. In addition bulk plants are located in Addison, Horseheads, and Sayre.

Mr. Myers has long been associated in the wholesale distribution of petroleum products throughout the state and is a large independent distributor.

He and his company in Addison places will be equipped to service any maker of motor vehicles with gas, oil and grease. In addition will offer new services to agricultural and domestic owners during the winter months.

Automobiles to be handled will be of the household number one type, including commercial vehicles. In fact everything that runs on wheels.

Mr. Perkins states that the line of motor accessories, Acme tires, batteries, radiators, cleaners, anti-freezes as well as oil will be carried in stock.

Mr. Perkins is well known in Addison and when he operated here and since that time, he has been assisting the community through the delivery of goods on a schedule. Stores and homes will be available.

Whit Perry At Stamp Exhibition At Ithaca

The Ithaca Stamp Club entertained 250 or more members (some with their wives) of the Federation of Central New York Philatelic Society last Saturday evening and Sunday on the occasion of the first exhibition and banquet arranged by the Federation.

A display of about 300 groups of stamps collecting was open free of charge in the gymnasium of the Senior High School containing rare and otherwise interesting items worth many thousands of dollars at present market valuations. Club members and officers, speakers, dealers and collectors came from New York, Buffalo, Syracuse, Binghamton, Elmira and other places in this state and Pennsylvania.

W. R. Perry of Addison, who has been a collector since the age of six years, attended with a non-competitive display of twelve groups of old stamps not usually seen at such exhibitions. He is a member of the Crystal City Stamp Society at Corning.

Mrs. Virginia C. Johnson was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Van Cossaboon, Sunday.

Francis Heidrick Injured While Hunting Sunday

Francis Heidrick, well known local athlete is recuperating slowly at his home, Maple street, from gunshot wounds received Sunday afternoon. Francis was hunting on the Pinnacle, south east of the village with William Kelly. Mr. Kelly was preceding Francis when the Kelly gun was discharged in some manner. The shot ricocheted and struck Francis in the right leg.

Mr. Kelly administered first aid and brought Mr. Heidrick to his home here. Much blood was lost before medical aid could be reached. This was the first hunting accident in this vicinity this year.

George Little Sworn In As Police Officer Here

Hi-Lights and Shadows of the Week's News

THE WAR —

The Italian invasion of Greece has struck several snags in the past week which have slowed the advance. A small force of two main lines of attack were pursued by Mussolini, the first the Koriza region aimed towards Salonica and the second a column headed towards Janina. The latter column penetrated some twenty miles before it was slowed down, but the Koriza sector proved a tough obstacle from the first attack.

The first of the week Greek picked troops threw back Italians in the Koriza sector at the point of the bayonet, capturing over 1,000 invaders. This counter attack placed 30,000 Italian troops in danger of capture as the Greeks stormed across the border in Albania and started an encircling movement.

Italian planes have heavily bombed a number of Greek cities, Salonica suffering the worst damage. Greece has only a tiny air force made up of some 100 planes most of which are obsolete for modern warfare. The British are lending some assistance in the air but they require some time to perfect bases and bring up equipment before they are prepared to fight for supremacy of the skies with Mussolini.

The British admitted Monday they had landed an expeditionary force in Greece proper to bolster the Greek Army. It is not known how large a force has landed, but commentators think the number is small. Even a token effort on land by the British is regarded as of great importance to boost the morale of Greece and Turkey which has yet to offer aid to her neighbor.

Military observers express the thought this week that Mussolini may have pulled a boner by invading Greece. The British have contemplated seizing some Greek islands for strategic reasons and now they have gained possession of these points in the role of allies. Corfu and Crete are of immense importance in a campaign in the eastern Mediterranean. Both offer great advantages as air bases and sea bases. With planes based on these Greek Isles Britain will be able to bomb Italy with short flights and the Italians have shown signs of being bomb-shy.

Hitler is said to have massed 100,000 Nazi troops in Rumania and the world watches for the next move in the expected Axis campaign to take Egypt. Bulgaria is expected to offer no resistance to the Axis advance, but Turkey has a great natural barrier in the Dardanelles and any invader will pay dearly before reaching Asiatic Turkey.

Addison Voters Poll Big GOP Majority—One Lone Democrat Tops

Casting the largest vote since 1928 Addison voters went two to one for Republican candidates—William Crawford, Democrat candidate for Welfare Commissioner carries village by eight votes—Voting shows GOPs picked up votes since 1936 and Democrats lost.

Addison remained in the Republican column for all candidates except one in the Tuesday election which brought out the greatest vote since 1928. The lone Democrat to get a majority here was William Crawford, candidate for Welfare Commissioner who had eight votes over Ray Hardenbrook, incumbent. There were 111 votes more cast than in 1936 for presidential candidates with the greatest gains being shown in the Republican ranks and some loss in the Democratic vote.

The vote here was about two to one Republican throughout most of

Armistice Day Program In AHS Friday

Hon. Edwin C. Smith, former Justice of the Supreme Court, will be the speaker at the Armistice Day program to be given in Addison High School Friday afternoon. The program will be given Friday as there is no school Monday. Williams-Greengrass Post, American Legion is cooperating with the High School authorities and the Boy Scouts in the presentation of the program.

There will be the Salute to the Flag, patriotic songs, talk on Armistice Day by Judge Smith and other appropriate music. The public is invited.

Police Oppose Car Parking On Wombough Walks

Considerable criticism has been heard relative to motorists parking cars on the sidewalk on Wombough street. This became a main thoroughfare when the temporary bridge was used. This means much traffic uses this street and the sidewalks are needed to their full width. Women have complained of the cars parked there which forced them to either walk in the road or in the mud close to the buildings. Chief of Police Earl Leavenworth asks the cooperation of motorists in parking their cars on this street to keep wheels and bumpers free of the walks.

Village Board Audits Bills at Short Session

Informal discussion of many topics of general village interest and the auditing of bills occupied the attention of the Village fathers Monday night in one of the shortest sessions held in several months.

Discussion of the traffic congestion at the intersection of the temporary bridge, Colwell and Wombough streets occupied much of the time. The village is maintaining a traffic officer there during school hours at a cost of $40 per month. Members of the board feel that the school authorities should help as another officer is maintained by the village at the intersection of Main and Tuscarora streets.

Destruction of the Willkie-McNary banner on Main street was deplored but no action will be taken by the board or police against the offenders, most of whom are known.

The dump grounds on West Front street have been leveled again and the cooperation of people of the village is asked in dumping refuse at the rear of the grounds as far from the road as possible.

Clerk Wilfred Miller was instructed to purchase a copy of the village laws with supplements at a cost of $2. Mayor Angelo Sisto presided and present were Trustees Hubert Orr, Norman Phelps, Sr., William Cooper and Albert Root.

Bills audited and ordered paid were: Chaffick Garage, repairs to village truck, to fire truck and inspection of fire truck, $7.62; American LaFrance Fire Equipment Company, nozzle and sprayer for fire hose, $17.30; G. Wendell Hurd, transmission for village truck, $10; A. L. Blades, 25 tons of crushed stone and rental of equipment, $266.75; Attorney Charles M. Salerno, services as village attorney, $45.88; Steuben County Highway Department, rental of equipment, $25.91; Crane Insurance Agency, fire insurance on City Hall, $61.88; Mrs. Mary Hibbard, cleaning jail, $2.50; Lane Pipe Corporation, pipe for recently repaved streets, $162.36; Doddato Shell Station, gasoline, 98c; New York State Gas & Electric Company, street lights, $293; Mrs. E. L. Hill, registrar of vital statistics, salary, $50.

LET'S TACKLE THE IMPORTANT JOB

Now that election is over, we should hurry to make amends for the lack of interest and conclusion we have shown toward more important things.

This business of getting our nation into shape to ward off some real or mythical something that is about to wreak destruction should proceed with dispatch. The question of how to build adequately and enlarge production is alarming, and nothing concrete has been advanced during the heat of a presidential campaign.

There is much too much of the un-American spirit prevalent everywhere, and with no apparent concern on the part of those men responsible for curbing it. Is it necessary to stretch our imagination unduly with the presence here of men and women definitely interested in disturbing and destroying the ideals of America? It seems to us the logical and smart step in creating a safe America that this element must be removed.

Pre-election opinions, or edicts, are often found most flexible in the sober thoughts of post-elections. There are votes to be considered prior to election, and candidates must be wary of their utterances in order that no class is greatly hurt. Now that election is out of the way, it is important that what we build should be right. And these needs cannot be satisfied with men whose minds are not in sympathy with the cause.

ALL THE WORLD'S A STAGE

More than a quarter century ago, the late Elbert Hubbard caught the trend when he wrote something in this vein: "When the cast-iron statue in the park satisfies our desire for sculpture and Robert Chambers satisfies our desire for literature," etc., etc., "the public demands that the things they see and the things they read must be gaudily done and tied with a big, blue bow". How true and keen was this look to the future.

Today we respond to acting—stage acting—in most of our decisions. We want to hear only the roscate side of everything; we turn our heads against the things we dislike to believe. We have lived at a time when wars, or the preparation to get back into the truly American ways of thinking, acting and believing?

Not until we become tolerant, kindly, respectful and law-abiding will we be able to live a life that satisfies high ideals and ambitions. Debunking traditions and ideals will only add confusion, so let's debunk the bunk.

A SAD COMMENTARY

Under the heading "These Are the Things That People Threw at Candidate for President", the November 4th issue of Life sets down, for the future generations to ponder, the missiles tossed in the direction of Wendell Willkie and Mrs. Willkie.

Pages 86 and 87 are devoted entirely to pictures of the missiles, with the name of the city where such un-American things happened, made a definite part of each picture. In the years to come there can be no denying this evidence. It is well that Life had the courage and intelligence to present the record in this way.

In closing the incidents, let us repeat the statement made by Al Smith—"I went around the country twelve years ago. The Lord knows I met an awful lot of people that hated me . . . but, outside of burning some crosses along the line of the railroad tracks, they treated me courteously . . . Tell me what has happened in this country that a lovely American lady like Mrs. Willkie can't accompany her husband in a crusade to save this country without being spattered with eggs!"

MODERN MERCHANTS SAVE LIVING COSTS

The indexes which deal with commodity costs at retail and wholesale all show a rising trend. In other words, the cost of living generally is going up. So far, the advances have been small and are nothing to get excited about. They are an inevitable result of current conditions, with demand for many articles at least temporarily in excess of supply.

The fact that the trend is underway, however, no matter how small the scale at present, is something worth thinking about. It is a very easy matter for such a trend to get out of hand—and thus to result in unnecessarily severe jumps in the cost of living, to the detriment of the health and welfare of millions of American families. Income, as the records of the past prove, almost invariably rises more slowly than living costs, and when that happens the great army of people to whom the personal budget is a difficult problem under the best of conditions, are in serious trouble.

One way to protect ourselves against unjustified jumps in costs is to encourage the freest play of competition in distribution and in retailing, no less than in manufacturing. Retailing groups are working hand in hand with consumers' representatives and government officials in an effort to keep prices as stable as possible, and to prevent and ferret out profiteering. But work of this kind is hampered by laws and punitive taxes, now in effect in more than half the states, whose tendency is to restrict competition—and it would be further hampered by the still more extreme laws which are periodically proposed. When the legislatures meet next year, there should be a general housecleaning of any and all statutes which in any way prevent maximum efficiency and economy in the retail field.

ONLY be thou strong, and very courageous, then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success.

Joshua 1:7

No one act or policy can solve the cost of living problem—but freeing progressive retailing of legal fetters which now confine it, would be an important step in the right direction. There is no room for price-fixing today — no room for legislation which aims to destroy one kind of merchant on the theory that another kind would be helped. The American people are entitled to the lowest-cost merchandising that can be achieved.

It is not the number of hours that a man puts in, but what the man puts in the hours that counts.

OUR BOMB SIGHT

Has the precious U. S. bomb sight already been released to Great Britain? Has production of these keenly accurate appliances already begun for the use of our neighbor across the sea? Hints from "insiders" have lately indicated that our greatest military secret is now out, and if this be true what are the consequences?

To nearly all Americans the U. S. bomb sight is an extremely mysterious thing. Just enough news about the sight has filtered out of military circles to make the average citizen aware there is such an appliance for air bombardment, yet most people are entirely mystified by it. However, enough information regarding this secret has come out for us to know our bomb sight is the most effective method of aiming a bomb at a target yet devised. It is used while the bombing plane is diving in a directly perpendicular direction. This eliminated the error caused by other types of sights which have to take into account the drift of the projectile after it is released. Tests made on both stationary and moving targets proved our airmen able to hit the mark three out of five times.

The great objection of most Americans to the release of this sight to Britain is the fact the Nazis might possess the secret soon afterwards. Planes are subject to falling over enemy territory and one can be sure the wreckage of every fallen bird is examined minutely by those who fell it. Long after the Nazis got possession of one of these bomb sights before they would use it for a model and duplicate this great secret for their own use? Then, if there be any truth to the tales of Nazi intention against the U. S., how long would it be before the weapon we have guarded zealously for years became an instrument of our own destruction?

The American bomb sight should never be released for use until this nation becomes entangled in war!

"IT'S ALL A GRIND"

"It's all a grind", said a worker one day. "Just a dull, beastly grind from morning to night". And he scowled as he punched the unheating clock.

"It's nothing but a grind", exclaimed a shaft of steel as the sparks flew up from the grinding. But the steel came forth as a two-edged sword to save a cause.

"It's just a grind", cried a rough pebble as it was pressed against a wheel. The wheel whirled and polished off the rough edges as the pebble burned under the experience. But there flashed finally a gleam of inner fire. The world possessed another diamond.

"It's a dull, deadly grind", lamented a huge block of glass. And indeed, it was. Week after week, month after month the grinding went on. The process seemed unending; the progress infinitesimal. But at last it was over, and the polished block was fitted into a great tube and lifted to the heavens to bring nearer the stars.

Do we groan in the grinding? We do, for that is the human thing to do. But we also grow in the grinding. We round off rough edges, and gain temper and fire.

What are we here for? Surely to find out what we are made of and are good for. The men who lead the nation today once thought their work a dull grind. But they submitted to its tempering.

Where does life press you today? That's where you'll find someday a sword for your spirit.

IRONY

Here's a little news that might be termed the height of irony.

Some time ago a group of unemployed hosiery workers decided to create their own jobs by going into business for themselves. They made a deal with a bank for possession of an abandoned hosiery mill.

Shortly after opening they signed an agreement with their union to pay themselves union wages. However, they found that this was a financial impossibility, and so they had to petition the union for the right to cut their own pay.

The union refused. Result: The enterprise faces bankruptcy, which would mean a return of the worker-partners to the relief rolls.

NO STRAIT-JACKET FOR HIM!

The Old Rambler feels sort of slighted. This is the first Halloween in a few years that something of value was not left on my front porch by some kind hearted individuals. One time I received a flower box and last year a folding gate. This year I received nothing.

However, I guess the kids were pretty good around the village on Halloween. The greatest loss was the $22 banner which hung over Main street and which was totally destroyed. This was done by older fellows who should know better. Other minor damage was reported by individuals.

The draft numbers pushed the war news off the front page for a couple of days last week for which we should be grateful even though the draft indirectly implies war.

Editor, Chief Leavenworth's attention in to a situation, which is a great deal of people who have been brought to the other. That is, the cars on the sidewalk have been taken many times; and for the times it is done unthinkingly.

Only 36 more shirts were to be made. Have your list yet and then you are going to give me the John and Auntie kids? Also better about your Christmas.

This changing about sort of upsets the Rambler and I as we were a little celebrating on the 23rd and now I'll have to work instead of loafing on a job.

Historians will record the destruction of things held dear in the present European conflict. Totalitarian dictators are destroying links with the past which cannot be replaced. I was particularly reminded of this in the destruction of the famous library of Joseph Addison, for whom the paper was named, formerly read and used.

In the list of the past masters of the Eastern Star noted, three members of one family have held the office. The first in the line was Mrs. Bessie Laffkas who was followed by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Aletha Laffkas. The third in the family was Miss Rula Laffkas, daughter of Mrs. Bessie. There are probably few chapters in this state that have such an unusual distinction.

So much devilment has been going on here that it is time something is done to stop it. No one minds some innocent fun but when it comes to destruction of property and the needless tearing of the election registration books, something drastic needs to be done. Maybe the addition of George Little to the police force will help. I hope so.

I know the police department fellows say they receive no pay unless they make an arrest and most of the devilment is caused by kids.

Give us, O give us, the man who sings at his work! Be his occupation what it may, he is equal to any of those who follow the same pursuit in silent sullenness. He will do more in the same time—he will do it better, he will persevere longer. One is scarcely sensible of fatigue whilst he marches to music.

who should be spanked rather than be arrested. But if an example is made of one or two, the trouble will stop. Yes, I raised Cain when a kid, but the Boy Scout law taught me to respect the property and rights of others. And when I did not, a wholesome respect for the bluecoats made me think twice.

Saw Walter Goff, the Little Napoleon of Addison Republicanism and John O'Keefe, the nominal leader of the "Unaffiliated," (Democrats to you) walking across Main street arm-in-arm election day. Some of you older people can remember when no Irishman would even think of consorting with a Republican on election day or St. Patrick's Day.

Armistice Day, November 11. It seems but a mockery now and I for one would be in favor of abolishing that day. I'm in sympathy with it in principle but feel that when World War II is over, the Armistice will mean something, but with World War I being nothing but a prelude to the present strife and indirectly responsible for it, I see no cause for celebration, but only a mourning day for a lost cause.

HAGUE FOF FINISHES SPEECH AFTER TWO-YEAR WAIT

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 5 — Jeff Burckett, one of Mayor Frank Hague's political opponents was sent to jail more than two years ago for making an anti-Hague speech in Jersey City without a permit. Monday evening Mr. Burckett obtained a permit and made a speech. "What I wanted to tell you two years ago," he told an audience is to go to the polls and defeat the Hague machine. Tomorrow vote for Wendell Willkie."

MAN CASTS FIRST VOTE 2 HOURS AFTER OPERATION

FAIRMONT, Minn., Nov. 5 — Claude Smoek of Monterey, who was 21 years old last January, is not going to let an operation keep him from his first election to vote in a presidential election. His appendix was removed under local anæsthesia at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon and two hours later Mr. Smoek was marking an absentee voter's ballot under supervision of Deputy Auditor Sig Storm.

TAX FAX Of New York State

L. Richard Guylay

If per pupil costs of education in New York State were pared to the level of Michigan, it would mean a saving of $117,000,000 annually for taxpayers. If per pupil costs in New York were on a par with those in Pennsylvania, it would mean a yearly budget reduction of $119,000,000.

To pay for the cost of state government in New York each year, it would be necessary to take every dollar of every retail sale in 35 of the state's 62 counties.

Each year the New York State government spends a sum equal to the entire working lifetime of 10,000 persons — assuming that each of them worked continuously for 48 years at 48 cents an hour.

ASK
The Scientist

If you have a question to ask the scientists, mail it to the New York Press Association, The Castle, Syracuse, N. Y. The Science Board of the Radio Workshop at Syracuse University will answer each week in the columns of this paper those questions considered most interesting and timely.

QUESTION. If matter could be converted into energy, how much energy would be available from a one cent piece?

ANSWER. Assuming the mass of a one cent piece to be three grams, about 64,500,000,000 calories of heat would be available if that mass were converted into energy.

This figure, however, does not mean much to a person because the number is too large. To give a better idea of the energy available, one can say that this amount of heat is about the same as one would obtain from burning 9,000 tons of goon anthracite coal.—Dr. William R. Frederickson, physicist.

QUESTION. Has the war in Europe affected the forests?

ANSWER. Yes, very much. War always means the destruction of many of the beautiful forests along the battle fronts. In the first World War, about 1,625,000 acres of French forests were destroyed.

No estimate as yet has been made of the damage done in the present World War. We do know that many roadsides and other trees, however, have been sacrificed for supplying lumber and other forms of timber products in England and Scotland.—Prof. Nelson Brown, forester.

QUESTION. What is the difference between live steam and ordinary steam?

ANSWER. The term ordinary steam applies to steam coming out of a teakettle, to use a familiar example. Live steam does not have very much significance so far as the scientist is concerned. Some industrial men speak of live steam as steam that has never been used as it comes from generators of some type.

However, the better terms to use are dry steam and saturated steam. For example, if we took the steam from a teakettle and then passed it through a tube at a higher temperature, we would call that dry steam and that is the type of steam that is used in large heating plants like the one here at Syracuse University.—Dr. Albert L. Elden, chemist.

QUESTION. What is meant by the fourth dimension? This term is often used in higher mathematics and I wonder what mathematicians mean when they use it.

ANSWER. One thinks of space as having three dimensions, length, width and height, but whenever one thinks about an object that can be moved one always uses four dimensions, three for space and one for time. An object that has a certain position, east and west, north and south, up and down, at a certain time. At another time it has a different position.

Now in ordinary problems we can think of space and time as separate, but in the relativity theory and relativistic mechanics, space and time are so inter-related that we cannot think of them separately and hence in the relativity theory we speak of a fourth dimension which we call the time the space.—Dr. Frederickson.

QUESTION. Would you consider carbon dioxide a colorless, odorless and tasteless gas?

ANSWER.—Carbon dioxide is definitely odorless and colorless. When carbon dioxide dissolves in water it forms carbonic acid and it is an gages in Westchester county has been foreclosed by the government — a situation stemming from reduced incomes and heavily increased taxes.

Local, state, and federal government expenditures of the United States equal the total accountable income of every state west of the Mississippi according to a study completed by the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, Inc. of New York State. This does not include the extraordinary defense expenditures this year.

A Regents inquiry in New York showed that $23,000,000 could have been saved on the state budget by increasing class sizes in upstate schools to an average of 30 pupils each. Instead 3,931 teachers were added to the payrolls at an additional cost of $9,900,000.

Since the first automobile show, the wages generated by the use of motor vehicles have amounted to more than 85 billion dollars, or five times all the monetary gold now held in the United States.

Automobile dealers number upwards of 10,000 in 17 southern states, accounting for a total employment of 60,000 persons.

STOP ME IF THIS ONE—YOU'VE HEARD

Man is the only animal who blushes—or needs to.—Mark Twain.

Wifely Advice

It was 2 o'clock in the morning. The writer looked haggard and worn. For 24 hours, without a pause, he had been working on his new novel.

"Darling," said his wife, "are you coming to bed?"

"No," muttered the busy author. "I've got the pretty girl in the clutches of the villain and I want to get her out."

"How old is the girl?" asked his wife.

"Twenty-two," replied the writer. "Then put out the lights and get to bed," snapped the wife. "She's old enough to take care of herself!"

Men are good about Telling the World, but pretty often some woman whispered it to him first.

"How can I ever show my appreciation?" gushed a woman to Clarence Darrow, after he had solved her legal troubles. "My dear woman," replied Darrow, "ever since the Phenicians invented money there has been only one answer to that question!"

Dr. Abernathy, a famous London diagnostician, was once approached at a social function by a dowager who tried to wangle free medical advice. "Oh, Dr. Abernathy," she said, "if a patient came to you with such and such a symptom, what would you recommend?" "Why, I would recommend Dr. Abernathy," he replied.

Statistics

Jones: "How do you spend your income?" Smith: "About 30% for shelter, 30% for clothing, 40% for food and 20% for amusement."

Jones: But that adds up to 120%." Smith—"That's right".

It's Always the Woman

Little Emily ran into the house crying as though her heart would break.

"What's wrong, dear?" asked her mother.

"My dolly—Billy broke it," she sobbed.

"How did he break it, dear?" "I hit him on the head with it," cried the daughter.

"Well, you said I had to choose, didn't you?" demanded the husband, in bed with his golf clubs.—Charles Addams

Bare Facts

A fraternity had sent its curtains to be laundered. It was the second day that the house had stood unveiled. One morning the following note arrived from the sorority across the street: "Dear sirs: May we suggest that you procure curtains for windows. We do not care for a course in anatomy." The girls received the following reply: "Dear Girls: The course is optional."

People criticize me for harping on the obvious. Perhaps some day I'll write an article on The Importance of the Obvious. If all the folks in the United States would do the few simple things they know they ought to do, most of our big problems would take care of themselves.—Calvin Coolidge.

acid and has an acid taste to most persons although I understand that there are some persons who cannot detect the taste of carbon dioxide in a dilute solution.—Dr. Elder.

QUESTION. If rain fell from a cloud in a continuous stream like a river, everyone under it would be drowned. However, rain falls in drops. Why?

ANSWER. All air contains invisible water vapor. No matter how dry it may appear to be, there is a great deal of this vapor in the air. In order to have this vapor condense in the form of rain drops, there must be microscopic dust particles around which the water vapor can condense.

Generally, that condensation takes place during upward movements of air. The raindrops either stay at the same level or gradually rise, increasing in size until they reach the point where they fall, by gravity, to the earth as raindrops.

The upward current will hold the raindrop approximately at the same level until its mass is large enough to overcome the upward push of the air, at which time it begins to rain.—Dr. Sidman Poole, geographer.

QUESTION. Can fat be extracted from coffee grounds?

ANSWER. An Italian company is said to be extracting a fat from coffee grounds. It is claimed that the process may be of commercial importance. The Confederation of Merchants, Italy, it is reported, has financed the experimental work.—Dr. Elder.

Gelatin

Marshmallows

1 pkg. fruit-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup sugar
4 tbsps. light corn syrup
Dissolve gelatin in hot water in saucepan over low flame. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Do not boil. Add corn syrup and blend. Chill until syrupy. Beat stiff with rotary egg beater, or at high speed in electric mixer 10 to 15 minutes. Turn into 9 x 9 inch pan, which has been lined with waxed paper. Stand in refrigerator overnight. Turn onto board dusted heavily with confectioners' sugar. Dampen waxed paper, let stand a few minutes, then peel off paper. Dust surface heavily with confectioners' sugar. Cut in one-inch squares and roll cut edges in confectioners' sugar. Make 80 squares.

Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb Makes First-Rate Roast

A stuffed shoulder of lamb makes a first-rate Sunday roast and also carries over its economy into the next day's menu.

Select a plump shoulder of lamb weighing from 3 to 5 pounds. Remove all the bones and the fell. Stuff with the following:

Stuffing
1 onion
3 stalks celery
3 tbsps. fat
1 pt. bread crumbs
Salt, pepper and savory seasoning (use fresh mint instead of savory, if preferred)
Chop onion and celery. Sauté in butter for a few minutes. Add the bread crumbs, stir all together and season to taste.

Spread the lamb stuffing inside the boned shoulder. Roll the shoulder completely and sew or tie in place. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dust lightly with flour. Place on rack in roasting pan with fat side up. Do not add water and do not cover.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) at same temperature from start to finish. Cook until meat is tender about 2½ to 3 hours. Make gravy of pan drippings. Left-Over Lamb with Peas in Mint Jelly

(Serves 4 to 6)
1 cup boiling bouillon
1 cup finely chopped mint leaves
1 tbsp. gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 cup cubed cooked left-over lamb
1 cup highly seasoned cooked peas

Pour boiling bouillon over chopped mint leaves. Stand five minutes. Strain. Sprinkle gelatin on cold water. Soak for five minutes. Add to hot minted strained bouillon. Stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add cubed lamb and peas. Dip mold into cold water, then fill with lamb and pea mixture. Chill until firm. Unmold on bed of lettuce and garnish with sprigs of fresh mint.

ROCKY ROAD FROSTING

3 eggs
3 cups whites
6 tablespoons water
2½ cups sugar
8 marshmallows, cut in pieces
1 tablespoon corn syrup or ½ teaspoon cream of tartar
Milk chocolate

Put all ingredients except chocolate in top of double boiler and beat with a rotary beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat 7 to 10 minutes or until the mixture will hold its shape. Melt chocolate in top of double boiler, spread a thin layer over the top of the icing, then smear surface to make it look rough.

PEANUT BUTTER BREAD

Peanut butter bread with its distinctive flavor and fine texture falls little short of being included in the cake class. Sliced thin and lightly spread with butter or cream cheese, it is a delightful tea accompaniment.

Peanut Butter Bread
2/3 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons double acting baking powder
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
Cream peanut butter and sugar add well beaten egg, then sift dry ingredients, alternating with milk. Beat well, put into greased pan. Begin baking in a cold oven set for 325 degrees. Bake 1 hour, raising temperature to 350 degrees the last 15 minutes.

RED FUDGE CAKE

1/2 cup cold water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sour milk or buttermilk
4 tablespoons cocoa
2 cups cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cream sugar and shortening. Add egg. Mix soda, milk and water together and add to creamed mixture alternately with sifted dry ingredients. Bake in 350 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 1 deep square layer. Top when cold with rocky road frosting.

SOUTHERNERS VOTE

CHICKEN HASH

ON MONDAY MENU

Hash on Monday nights is almost as general from coast to coast as a line of clean clothes on Monday morning.

It's a sound idea, too, using up the left-overs. Here's a recipe from the sunny south which uses left-over chicken.

Carolina Chicken Hash
(Serves 4)
2 cups cold, left-over chicken, cut into large dice
2 tbsps. butter
2 tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. minced raw celery
1 cup chicken, celery and carrot stock
1/2 cup cream
1 tbsps. scraped onion
1/2 tsp. mace, salt and pepper
Heat butter in skillet, slowly stir in flour. Then slowly stir in chicken, celery and carrot broth. Add celery and scraped onion and season to taste with salt and pepper. Simmer 10 minutes. Add cubed chicken, mace and cream.

SQUASH AND MEAT
3½ cups cubed squash
1 lb. mutton
5 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
3 tablespoons chopped onion
2 cups tomato

Cut mutton into small pieces and brown with the chopped onion in the butter; add the cubed squash. Brown for a few minutes; add the tomato and seasoning, put into baking dish, and cook in a moderate oven 35 minutes. Fifteen minutes before serving remove cover and let the top get brown. With a mixed vegetable salad this is a complete meal.

SQUASH PIE
1 cup of cooked and sifted squash
1 cup of sugar
2 eggs
1 cup of milk
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon ginger
Pinch salt

Beat eggs, add milk, sugar, salt and squash; mix well, then add spices and butter; pour into an unbaked shell. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) fifteen minutes. Decrease heat to 350 degrees and bake 30 minutes longer. One cup of coconut may be added to the mixture if preferred.

MANHUNT COMES TO END WITH FARMHAND'S ARREST

DUANESBURG, N. Y., Nov. 5.—State Troopers took a wet, hunted Joseph Nowak into custody Monday night, climaxing one of the most intense manhunts in this section in years.

The 34-year-old, farmhand lived through the window of a barn last Friday while police were questioning him in connection with the murder of a fellow farmhand, Leonard Griffen, whose body was found in a clump of bushes nearby.

MAN FACES MURDER CHARGE IN DEATH OF LITTLE SON

WATKINS GLEN, Nov. 5.—Robert H. Dryburgh, 52, of nearby Sugar Hill, is in Schuyler County jail today facing first-degree murder charges in the death of his son, Robert James Dryburgh, 3.

Arrested late Monday, Dryburgh was arraigned before Justice Olin A. Starck and pleaded innocent. He was held for examination Saturday morning.

District Attorney Lafayette W. Argetsinger, Jr., in announcing the arrest, refused further comment. The boy was found dead in his bed Oct. 23, a blanket wrapped around his head.

GRANGES ELECT

Grangers will hold their annual election of officers Friday of this week. Thomas Kane, Jr., is the present Master of the Grange, a position he has held for the past two years. The local members have been hosts to the Pomona sessions held here Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Special evangelistic services are being conducted every night except Saturday in the Free Methodist Church at Elkland with Rev. Bert Sanford, the "Singing Blacksmith", preaching and singing. Everyone is invited to attend these meetings.

PHOENIX AUXILIARY DANCE

The women of the Phoenix Hose Auxiliary sponsored a Halloween Dance in the City Hall last Wednesday night to raise funds for the activities of the chapter and to help the firemen of the company of which they are a part. There was a program of round and square dancing and games held in the spacious hall of the former opera house quarters. This was the first public affair held by the ladies since they organized.

MRS. JENNIE H. HOUSE

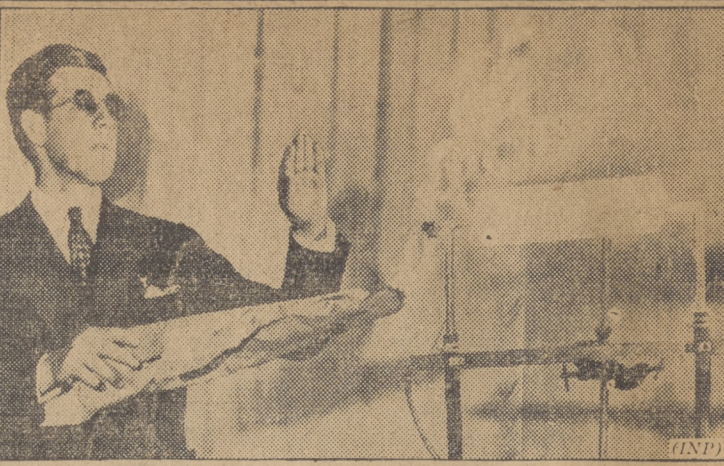

Harry K. Fritts was in Hornell Monday. He attended the burial ceremonies for his cousin the late Mrs. Jennie Harrison House, 66, widow of the late William House. Mrs. House was well known in Addison as she had visited here many times in past years and had many personal friends here who sincerely mourn her.

Dance in St. Catherine's Hall Friday Night

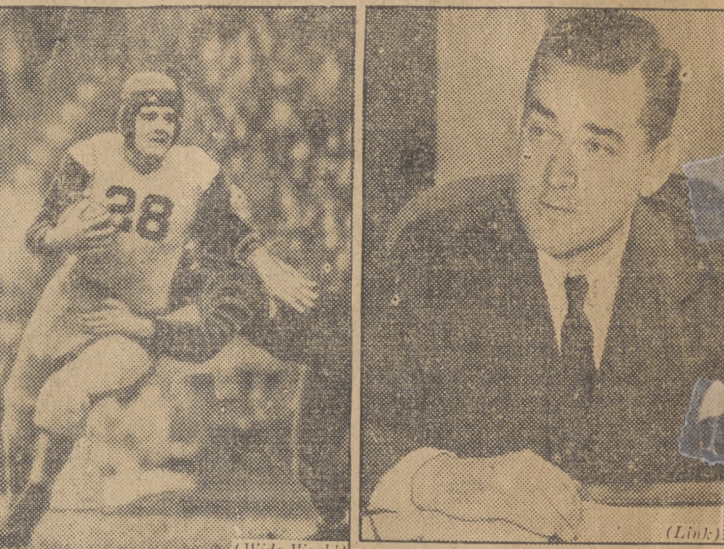

Bulky's Orchestra will provide music for round and square dancing in St. Catherine's parish hall Friday night at the fifth in the series of parish dances. These affairs are being held under the direction of the pastor, the Rev. Patrick Kelly, to raise funds for the church expenses. An invitation is extended to the general public to attend the dance and a good time is assured.

Penn Yan—Mrs. Henry M. Robert, widow of General Henry M. Robert, was presented the 1,000,000th copy of her late husband's work, "Robert's Rules of Order". This book is an authoritative work on procedures for control of meetings.

People, Spots In The News

MAN MAKES SUNSHINE... Although this 10,000-watt mercury vapor lamp was encased in cooling jacket of running water, its infra-red radiations—producing light one-fifth as bright as sun's surface—quickly set fire to wrapping-paper torch held by S. G. Hibben in demonstration before college scientists at Bloomfield, N.J.

RAMPAGING REAGAN... Brushing off Princeton jockey on one of his long runs that made him one of nation's most spectacular ground gainers is Frank Reagan, U. of Pennsylvania halfback who scored 10 touchdowns in first three games as Penn powerhouse wallowed Maryland, Yale and Princeton.

CATHERINE CREEK

Wanda Butler, Shirley Groce, Mary Lou Moyer and Doris Rouse of Addison spent Thursday night with their classmate Elsie Ruth Matteson Little Janice Stewart also attended.

Mrs. Degraw and daughter Thelma called on the former's father at Bath Hospital Sunday.

K. Maxwell of Elmira was calling in this vicinity Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCaig of Rathbone District No. 5, are the proud parents of a ten pound baby girl.

The hard rains of Friday and Saturday nights were welcome, as most farmers are busy turning the soil.

Mrs. Kenneth McCaig of Addison spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. Earl Mattison.

Preston Ames, called on his sister, who is in the Corning Hospital Thursday night.

K. Mattison spent Thursday night in Addison with classmate Edward Hunt of Steuben street.

NOVEMBER—

"Thirty days hath September, April, June and November", is about the most cheery bit of verse which the poets have written about this new month of November. Most of the poems penned about November are drab and dreary.

Thomas Hood, born in May, wrote:

No warmth, no cheerfulness, no healthful ease, no comfortable ease in any member—No shade, no shine, no butterflies, no bees, no fruits, no flowers, no leaves, no birds—NOVEMBER!

And Scotsman Robert Burns contributed, "When chill November's surly blast made fields and forests bare."

William Cullen Bryant, born in November, wrote of his native month:

"When shrieked the bleak November winds and smote the woods And the brown fields were herbless and the shades

That met above the merry rivulet Were spoiled, I sought, I loved them still;

They seemed Like old companions in adversity," Susan Coolidge added this whimsy:

"Dry leaves upon the wall, Which flap like rustling wings and seek escape,

A single frosted cluster on the grape Still hangs, and that is all."

November has witnessed the birth of more than its share of Presidents. James A. Garfield, James K. Polk, Franklin Pierce and Zachary Taylor first saw the light of day during November. Mark Twain and William Cullen Bryant were both November children. And there always is THANKSGIVING DAY!

Westfield—Dr. Ernest Lee Simpson, well known physician, died October 27.

SI-A-YEAR MAN... John Hay Whitney, board chairman of Freeport Sulphur company and motion picture executive whose company produced "Gone With the Wind", signs with government at $1 a year. He will direct motion picture division of "office for co-ordination of commercial and cultural relations between the American republics."

Sports—

The Advertiser-Sentinel sports guessers are beginning to less ground as the season progresses for the guessing is getting harder and harder as more and more sports are recorded. Finnerly and Miller are tied for first place in the first six games with 76 per cent each. Dr. Bean is in third place with 70 per cent and Mill Crans has a 66 per cent average in the guessing.

The Army team's members in playing Notre Dame provided the biggest upset of the Saturday collegiate football games although Notre Dame won 20-0.

Another long run by Saturday in the football game of Dick High of York to beat Yale.

A great game was played between Northwestern of Chicago and the defeated Lynn Waldorf of the Northwestern of Chicago. Both teams were game untied and the winners emerged 13-0.

It seems to the under that football is no longer a game of all, except on the kick.

There were few Saturday's games decided on passes or plays set up by receivers. Jim Thorpe has forgotten more football than the average coach knows.

Not so many pheasants were taken by hunters of the last week. It seems that the pheasants got smart and knew where to hide, although some of the hunters state that the foxes are getting them instead of the hunters.

Manhattan defeated Penn State in cross country in a thrilling race at Van Cortlandt Park in New York Saturday afternoon. Bill Smith of Penn State was first across the line but his team placed second.

High School football teams are to be limited to seven games per season according to a new ruling of the State Education Department.

Now that the midway mark in football season has been set, basketball and hockey is beginning to crowd the sports pages. When baseball is half way through its season, the sportswriters and enthusiasts began talking football.

Freddie Apostoli, San Francisco ex-champion, will box Tony Zale of Cary, Ind. in Seattle, Wash., Saturday, November 19.

There is much talk being heard that the once former heavyweight Jack Dempsey is broke. The restaurateur business bearing his name was not his own. And recently his most charming and beautiful wife, Hannahs Williams, divorced him. He is trying wrestling to recoup his fortune.

Nylon fishing tackle has come into being and it is supposed to be snarl proof.

Jane Austen Novel Filmed For Avon Audiences Beginning Sunday

"Pride and Prejudice" will be the feature attraction at the Avon Theatre here for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. This picture based on the novel of Jane Austen is a story of love in a small village between landed gentry and outsiders. An all-star cast helms the presentation of the novel's story. Lawrence Olivier, Mary Boland, Edna May Oliver, Maureen O'Sullivan, Ann Rutherford, Edmund Gwenn, Karen Morley, Heather Angel, Marcia Hunt and large supporting cast aids in this presentation in which Greer Garson is featured.

A proud father with four daughters of marriageable age finds it difficult to keep things moving in his family so that his daughters will not be left in the spinster class. The comedy in the picture adds much to the story and worthwhileness of this production.

"Third Finger Left Hand" At Fox Theatre Saturday

Myrna Loy, chewing gum and speaking out of the side of her mouth with a tough accent! It doesn't seem to make sense, but it does make a spectacle that elicits mirthful howls from audiences in "Third Finger, Left Hand" comical story of a marriage mixup, in which the screen's "perfect wife" roughs up Melvyn Douglas, the man who made Garbo laugh.

It's one of the many comedy-packed situations in the new picture, which comes Saturday to the Fox Theatre.

Myrna sets out to horrify Melvyn's home-town folks while the two are on their honeymoon. In fact she keeps Douglas in a constant dither as they fall in and out of comical complications.

playing a fashion editor, pretends to have a husband in some distant part of the world for business reasons. The debonair Douglas, one of her suitors, comes to it and arrives to impersonate Friend Husband and keep Lee Downman and Sidney Blackmer, her other two suitors away. She can't expose him without exposing her own deception. To make matters worse, her family likes him.

Taber Class Party at Mrs. Harry Cook's

Mrs. Harry Cook, Cleveland street, entertained 36 members of the Taber Class of the Baptist Church at her home Friday night. The affair was in the nature of a masquerade party with witches, ghosts, skeletons, Indians, belles and beaux and a variety of other costumes being represented by the masqueraders.

Mrs. Cook served refreshments in keeping with the holiday spirit of ghosts and goblins. She was assisted by Mrs. Clare Colvin, Mrs. Florence Chart and Mrs. L. W. Barr. Devotionals were led by Miss Taft. Halloween favors were distributed to all those present.

Mrs. Helen Wilson, president was ill, this being the first meeting she has missed in two years. Mrs. Waldo Butler, vice president was in charge of the business meeting. Plans for a box social were made.

E. C. Smith Herd Leads DHIA For October—Post Cow High

The Southern Steuben Dairy Herd Improvement Association report 17 cows on test. Edwin C. Smith (Cashmere Farm) cows top the association for butterfat production. This purebred Ayrshire produced 173 pounds of butterfat and 1,131 pounds of milk. Wilson Bennett of Painted Post owns high cow for milk production, 1,705 pounds of milk containing 51.2 pounds of butterfat. Two cows produced 63 or more pounds of butterfat, those owned by Edwin C. Smith and E. W. Deming. The following members have cow meeting honor roll requirement (1,700 pounds of milk or 40 pounds of butterfat): C. A. Stewart & Son (Eggs), Edwin C. Smith (Tuscarora Farm), four; Edwin C. Smith (Cashmere Farm), four; Ivan J. Tompkins, one; Thomas Kane and Sons, one; Stuart and Dolly, three; F. and M. Kane, four; Hanford Edmister, one; H. B. Bay State Farmers Bullied by Slickers' Play-Dead Bull

WORCESTER, Mass. — Modern cattle rustlers who travel at 60 miles an hour in huge vans, and swindlers who sell farmers a live bull and buy it back a few hours later, as an apparently dead one, are being sought in central Massachusetts by the State Police.

The dead bull racket was perpetrated on several farmers in the vicinity of Harvard. They were approached by a slick-talking team of salesmen who offered them a bull at a bargain price. A few hours later the bull appeared dead and there was blood on his tongue. The sellers reappeared and offered to buy it back for beef.

After reviving the unconscious bull, which apparently had been drugged, they sold it over again to a new victim.

Using the most modern conveyances, cattle rustlers have appeared in the vicinity of Spencer, stealing cows and selling them to shady dealers.

Arkport Takes Championship of Football After Questionable Play

Knights win moral victory over traditional rivals in freak play and decision—Score 7 to 6—Addison plays headsup ball breaking up many Arkport passes—Game marked by many discussions—Knights have held trophy three years.

Stormy words and actions marked the close of the Arkport Addison football playoff game for the championship of the A League here Tuesday afternoon. Arkport won the game 7 to 6 in a last minute attack which proved too much for the Addison squad. By virtue of this win Arkport takes the championship in touchfootball which has been held for three years by the Knights.

Both teams played three and kicked in the opening half of the game with the visitors being in Addison territory most of the time. And the halftime whistle saved the Knights from being scored on as the half ended for the Arkport squad was on the march and knocking at Addison's door.

The third period was only under way a short time when Dominick threw a pass to Hargrave which netted 20 yards deep in Arkport territory. On the next play Dominick faded way behind the line of scrimmage and threw a long pass to O'Connor out in the open and John stretched and ran 15 yards for the touchdown. Ricker was sent in to pass. The throw from center was poor and was downed by Gladstone. This cost Addison the game as the score turned out at the end of the fourth period.

The visitors again came deep into Addison territory on two occasions only to have passes knocked down by Gladstone and O'Connor.

Then the questionable play. Shroyer of Arkport received a pass from center on his 30 yard line and in the opinion of Referee Miller was touched by O'Connor before he could pass to Jackson. However, Shroyer threw to Jackson who raced 15 yards for a touchdown which was called back by Referee Miller. Then the arguments began. An Arkport player near the play admitted Shroyer had been touched.

Referee Miller stood by his decision but put the matter up to Coach Lambert of Arkport, who was 25 yards from the play. He told Lambert that if Arkport wanted the touchdown that way to take it. And Arkport took that and the cup, but under such circumstances as make the Addison team members feel they won the championship regardless of the cup. The point after touchdown, the margin of victory was scored by the visitors.

The Knights played a bargu game of football and were deep in the enemy territory most of the time. O'Connor played a great game on defensive breaking up of Arkport passes time after time. Gladstone also broke into many Arkport plays as did Gee, Ingersoll and others. The victory is theirs regardless of the score and the boys deserve great credit for their showing before one of the largest crowds of the season.

Dancing Good For Figure

Nothing makes a married couple feel so "married and settled down" as to go out for a gay evening of dancing and to discover that every one else is doing the rumba or polishing off the conga!

If the head of the house should happen to cast inhibition to the airconditioned breeze it will only add fuel to the fire of his spouse's resolve that they are both going to take dancing lessons, come next Monday!

But usually that is as far as it goes. Every time she broaches the subject, he is fairly certain to retreat to the masculine safety of the sports section of the evening paper with a non-committal "Harump! hump! Too busy right now!"

In one community, however, the wives clanned together and purchased a complete set of those new dance instruction records. And as soon as they had caught on, they gave a party and someone-casualty, of course—just happened to play the records! And before the husbands, who had been discussing golf scores, realized what they were doing, they had practiced dancing for two solid hours! Since then it turned into a very dashing neighborhood. Instead of dancing less and less, all the couples are dancing more and more.

Here is a general idea of the way to go about practicing the rumba. The dancers stand about eight inches from each other. The main trick is to master the horizontal hip action—a light roll, which is the result of a graceful shifting of the weight from one foot to the other.

It is necessary to learn this fundamental weight shift before any of the steps are attempted. Try it—it's fun! Stand erect, with heels together and with the weight relaxed on the heel of the left foot. Now, relax the weight on the heel of the right foot, then back to the left foot. Try it again! Left foot, right, then left, pausing on the third count. That is all! When dancing to rumba music, you always make your pause after the count of three—this way: One, two, three, pause! One, two, three, pause!

After you can do that with the greatest of grace, you are ready to go ahead—and also backward! Apply the same rhythm to backward steps. Shift your weight rhythmically from one foot to the other as you move ahead, about an inch for each count. Then gradually increase the length of the step until you can move forward and backward normally without losing the sense of rhythm.

If you learn this basic rumba step, the others are easy. Here goes: Stand erect, heels together. Now, place the left foot to the side, draw the right foot up and take a long step forward with the left foot on the count of three. Pause and repeat, placing right foot to side, etc. After that, run through the whole thing again.

E. RAY HARDENBROOK

Steuben Welfare Commissioner wins by small plurality.

Lever Pushed Wrong Way—Stalls Election

Sixth Ward voters were stymied for about 30 minutes Tuesday afternoon when one of the voting machines at Fire Station Two was unintentionally locked by a woman who was casting her first ballot.

While men and women stood in line, the district election inspectors worked frantically to unlock the machine. Edmund Wenderlich, custodian of machines, was called and he found that a lever had been pushed upward rather than downward. He restored the machine to service in short order.

From another district came the report that a man insisted upon marking a ballot instead of using a voting machine. When the operation of the machine was explained he said, "Nothing doing, I want to be sure that my vote is counted and I'm not trusting any mechanical device."

He finally consented to use the machine, but he left the polling place, greatly perturbed about "cash register voting."

Congratulates Rival

Wendell Willkie spoke briefly early Wed. to a shouting crowd of followers without conceding defeat in the face of mounting Roosevelt pluralities.

"I hope," he said hoarsely, "that none of you are either afraid or disheartened... because I am not."

"The principles for which we fought prevail as surely as the principles of truth always prevail."

"I thank you from the bottom of my heart don't be afraid and never quit."

Later Willkie congratulated Roosevelt.

LEADS G. O. P. VOTE

Congressman Cole of Bath, carried Steuben by a greater majority than the head of the ticket.

Corning Presidential Vote Shifts sides

President Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie ran practically a dead heat in the city of Corning. The former was ahead by three votes in the first tabulations. The lead, however, changed hands as fast as the vote tabulators re-added their figures. The lead shifted back and forth—Roosevelt—Willkie, Willkie—Roosevelt and neither side can say for sure they won the city.

Bruce Barton with 3,496 votes edged out his Democratic opponent for U. S. Senate, James M. Mead, who had 3,482.

In the race for congressman-at-large the city gave the Republican candidates hairbreadth margins but gave Congressman W. Sterling Cole seeking reelection over David Moses a plurality of more than 1,000. Cole received 3,955 and Moses 2,875.

For State Senator, Warner (R) with 3,540 votes overwhelmed Annis with 2,849. Likewise Mrs. Cheney seeking reelection as Member of Assembly, swamped her Democratic opponent, F. L. King, 4,038 to 2,960.

For Steuben County Judge District Attorney King, with 4,179 votes defeated Attorney Candiello, Democrat, with 2,534. Mr. King carried all wards except the Fourth and Fifth.

William Crawford, making an exceptional run in this city, shaded his Republican opponent, Ray Hardenbrook, 3,550 to 3,309.

In his margin of victory, President Roosevelt swung four wards, the First, Fourth, Fifth and Seventh.

Owego—William T. Underhill, 11, wandered away from home and a day later his body was found at the base of a 50-foot stone quarry.

Hardenbrook Wins by 641 Votes—Mrs. Cheney Returned to Assembly

E. Ray Hardenbrook of Bath, Republican, won reelection as Steuben County Welfare Commissioner by 641 votes over his Democratic opponent, William Crawford of Cameron, according to complete county totals announced unofficially at 12:30 a. m. today. The vote was Hardenbrook, 20,417; Crawford, 19,746.

GEORGE A. KING

Becomes new County Judge

GOP Will Control State Legislature

Results hewed close to traditional party lines Tuesday night, with incumbents faring well, in early reports on races for New York's two-house Legislature now dominated by Republicans in both branches.

First upstate returns showed Republicans picking up one seat with J. Eugene Zimmer's defeat of Philip J. Casey, Democratic incumbent from Rensselaer County. The party also reelected numerous veteran Assemblymen, including the entire five-member Westchester County block.

Republicans returned several Senators, including Pliny W. Williamson and William F. Condon, of Westchester County's 25th and 26th Districts and Walter W. Stokes, Cooperstown.

Republicans no hold 85 of 150 seats in the Assembly. Democrats have 64 and the American Labor Party one. The Senate also is controlled by Republicans, 27 to 24.

Among Republican veterans reelected were James J. Wadsworth, Genesee, chairman of the Assembly Welfare Committee, and Jane H. Todd, Westchester County, one of the Assembly's two women members.

Freezing makes beef tender, recent experiments have proven.

Four other Republican candidates, Steuben County rolled up pluralities of more than 2 to 1 in election results from 70 of the 80 districts.

The plurality given Wendell Willkie over President Roosevelt—23,227 to 13,366 was followed in nearly all other contests. ALP voters cast 246 votes for Roosevelt.

Dist. Atty. George A. King of this place was elected Steuben County Judge to succeed Judge Edwin S. Brown. He defeated Atty. Vedo M. Candiello by 24,520 to 11,743. Mrs. Edith Cheney, Republican, was reelected assemblywoman from the First Steuben District over Atty. Frank L. King of Corning, and the Second District reelected Assemblyman William Stuart of Canisteo, Republican, over William McCaddam of Bath R. D. 3.

Congressman W. Sterling Cole of Bath rolled up a 24,460 to 11,402 vote against his Democratic opponent, David Moses of Watkins Glen in Steuben County.

Despite strong labor support, U. S. Senator James M. Mead led the rest of his ticket, except Crawford, only slightly in Steuben. The vote was: Bruce Barton (R), 24,880; Mead (D), 14,604.

Steuben gave a vote of 24,592 to 11,810 to State Senator Earle S. Warner of Phelps, who was opposed by Norman L. Annis, Democrat, of Hornell.

Benjamin B. Cunningham (R), led Charles S. Desmond (D), 28,756 to 11,830 for associate justice of the Court of Appeals. This was the only Court of Appeals contest, as Edmund H. Lewis and Albert Conway were endorsed by both parties.

For Supreme Court justice, Lewis is Gilbert of Newark (R) led John W. Miles of Lyons (D) by 24,699 to 11,810.

The vote for congressman-at-large was Donlon (R), 24,876; Kendall (R), 24,901; O'Day (D), 11,813; Merritt (D), 11,790.

OUR COUNTRY

Our Defense Job Inspected

By Alburn West
Military chieftains from the other 20 republics of the Americas have just been given a glimpse of how their northern neighbor is working at the job of arming for defense.

The officers—43 chiefs of staff and their aides—traveling in two groups, inspected key air force, coast and field artillery and infantry units from New York to San Antonio, Tex., in a strenuous 12-day aerial tour as guests of Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army.

"We are a peaceful people, a very determined people," Marshall told them. "Everything is being given to preparations for the defense of the Western Hemisphere."

Leaders of Many Nations
He was speaking to military leaders from Bolivia, Colombia, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Honduras, Peru, Panama and Uruguay, members of the first tour who had just returned to the national capital. Officers from Argentina, Brazil, Chile, El Salvador, Mexico, Nicaragua, Paraguay, Cuba, Ecuador, Haiti and Venezuela already were congregating in Washington for the takeoff of their 4,000 mile circuit of key military establishments.

This second tour has now been completed and the officers are preparing to fly to Panama for a two-day survey of defenses of the Panama Canal Zone.

The tours brought a small show of military pomp, save for the routine guards of honor and reviews. Receptions and dinners came only after long days spent in flying from one post to another, walking through important troop training centers, reviewing crack divisions or watching them maneuver in simulated battles.

The visitors, many of whom have been in Germany, Italy and Japan recently on missions or as attaches, saw the army in its day by day training routine. Officers said there were no extraordinary displays.

They saw the army's two armored divisions—plans for two more are on paper—at Fort Benning, Ga., and Fort Knox, Ky.

At Fort Benning—a 97,000-acre post with approximately 30,000 officers and men—they watched the development of tactical problems emphasizing defense against strafing from the air and employing motorized divisions.

Tank Charge Viewed
At Fort Knox where a mechanized brigade has been expanded into an armored division since last May they saw a simulated charge of light and heavy tanks firing tracer bullets. It was an eerie sight. From a distance, artillery was softening the positions of an assumed defender. Chemical units had dropped a smoke screen to shield the attackers. The tanks came roaring through clouds of dust spitting red streaks from 30 mm machine guns.

"Now you can see why the French and British had to fall back," observed Gen. Felipe Rivera of Bolivia. General Rivera, a veteran of the Chaco War, obviously was referring to the Nazi drive through the Lowlands.

Another day and the Latin American officers were 950 air miles west at San Antonio, Tex., where they inspected the "West Point of the air" at Randolph Field and Kelley Field, and watched Maj. Gen. Walter Krueger's second infantry division in sham battle.

On the first of two days at that Southwestern military center, the visitors rode and walked among and through part of the huge war-houses holding 90,000 different articles of air corps technical supplies; through machine shops employing 1,548 civilian workers and capable of overhauling 300 airplane engines monthly. Staff cars carried them through long lanes made by 342 training planes lined up in front of hangars.

Finally they reviewed the battalion of flying cadets—500 youths in pretty blue uniforms marching with precision reminiscent of West Point itself.

Visit Guardsmen
From San Antonio, the officers flew to Fort Sill, Okla., the army's training school for artillery officers and a concentration point for 14,000 National Guardsmen from Southwestern states. The next day they were at Fort Knox, Ky., and the following day in Detroit. There they had a quick view of the potentialities of United States industry as an adjunct of military might.

Then came New York with a day at West Point—home of the United States Military Academy—and a day at Governors Island, important army post in the New York area.

The second contingent of Latin American officers visited Langley Field, army air force headquarters, for a demonstration of the bombing power of the air corps, and an inspection of coast artillery units at Fort Monroe, Va. On the first tour, unfavorable weather had forced abandonment of the bombing inspection.

The 43 officers had traveled in air tours. At each post Spanish-speaking United States army officers served as companion-guides. At Fort Sam Houston, Tex., General Krueger fell back on the Spanish he acquired during the Spanish American War and welcomed his guests in their native tongue.

American Boy Magazine Companion to Thousands

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys' clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 20¢ a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign rates 50¢ a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. Adv.

Vice Pres. Garner Takes Walk

Vice president John N. Garner plainly at odds with Democratic administration policies, took a Tuesday.

Unlike his wife, secretary and hundreds of Uvalde citizens he did not vote in the general election.

When his precinct box closed at 7 p. m., he had cast no ballot there and county officials said he had not voted absentee.

Secluded in his big brick residence, he gave no reason for breaking his voting habits of many years.

Tuesday's general election was the first in 44 years that Uvalde has not had the opportunity to vote for "Cactus Jack". He ran for his first public office—county Judge—in 1896. He was elected and has been running since.

Unjustifiable Price Boost Out, Administrator Warns

Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald told manufacturers, distributors and builders that the FHA would not permit its appraisals of new-home construction to cover any unjustifiable increases in material prices.

In letters to representatives and members of the building industry, Mr. McDonald said that the FHA had noted with apprehension a tendency toward increased prices in building materials. He called attention to a statement by Leon Henderson, Director in Charge of Price Stabilization of the National Defense Commission, to the effect that recent price rises had not been justified by defense needs.

"Neither you nor members of your organizations, I am certain," Mr. McDonald said, will wish to permit anything to impede the current rate of home construction which is contributing so much to economic recovery and to national defense."

In letters to builders Mr. McDonald further stated: "I am aware that the building material dealers and distributors are not always solely responsible for increased prices but that they are often obliged to protect themselves in their 60 to 90-day quotations to speculative builders, thus tying up their current inventories."

Text of Letters
The text of Mr. McDonald's letters to the industry follows:
"No doubt you have noted with the same apprehension as that of the Federal Housing Administration a tendency toward increased prices in building materials."

"You may have noticed also in the public press a statement by Leon Henderson, Director in Charge of Price Stabilization of the National Defense Commission, to the effect that the price increases which have taken place are not justified by defense needs."

To Investigate Prices
"I should like to call your attention to the fact that it is my duty as custodian of the Mutual Mortgage Insurance Fund to insure only those loans which are economically sound. This soundness naturally contemplates only such construction costs as are fully justified. I feel I must tell you, therefore, that this Administration will continue to investigate thoroughly the prices being charged for building materials; and in valuing new-home construction no appraisals will be permitted to cover any unjustifiable increases."

"I am sure we all remember that in 1937 sharply increased prices of building materials caused a very marked decrease in new-home construction."

Navy Office To Enlist Twice Weekly

Lieutenant Commander Eugene C. Burchett, officer in charge of the Buffalo Navy Recruiting District, announced today receipt of instructions to enlist 34 applicants for the Navy on Mondays of each week during the month of November. This makes a total of 136 men for the November quota.

The Navy is still accepting volunteers for enlistment and when such enlistments are made, the Navy Recruiting office will notify the Local Board, Selective Service, in order that those officials may remove the names of men enlisted in the Navy from the roster of the local Selective Service Board.

Each man whose number has been published in the papers and who desires further information about enlistment in the Navy is requested to call the Navy Recruiting office, 515 Post Office Building, Buffalo, or at the sub-stations located in Elmira, Rochester, Jamestown, Olean, Lockport and Erie, Pa.

The requirements for enlistment in the Navy are: Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 31, unmarried, citizens of the United States, no police record, physically, mentally and normally qualified. It is not necessary to be a graduate of high school. Every consideration will be given to those who volunteer.

Promotions are being made more rapidly than ever before under the Navy's expansion program to make room for the newly enlisted men. Service in present rating, service in the Navy, requirements for promotion in the lower pay grades, have been reduced to a minimum to permit commanding officers of naval activities, ashore and afloat, to advance their personnel as rapidly as possible to meet the influx of new personnel to man the ships proposed, building and newly-commissioned.

Congressman Sterling Cole to Speak at Dinner Here Tuesday

Member of powerful Naval Affairs Committee to speak on "National Defense and Its Relation to every American"—Public invited to dinner being arranged by Civic Society and Ad Club.

Congressman W. Sterling Cole, his own experiences as Congressman and as a member of the powerful Naval Affairs Committee, the Republican congress in Washington will speak to the people of Addison and vicinity Tuesday night, November 12, in the Addison High School. The affair will be a joint meeting of the Advertising Club and the Women's Civic Society with people of the community being invited to attend.

Congressman Cole will not give a political talk, but now that the election is over, he will point out what the Administration is doing and what can be done for national defense and national unity. Election being over, he will speak on

Those who are not members of the Advertising Club or Civic Society and who desire to attend the dinner and hear the address, are asked to leave reservations with Milton Crane, Ad Club president, in Crane's Insurance office, Main St.

This will be the first joint supper meeting of the two organizations. The Civic Society members are arranging the program and it was through them that Congressman Cole was invited to return to Addison and speak at this time.

The talk will be preceded by a supper at 6:30 o'clock in the commercial rooms of the Addison High School with members of the Senior Class serving the supper. They will be assisted by Miss Phyllis Harley, home economics instructor. The money raised will be used towards the Senior trip to Washington at Easter time.

Editor Addison Advertiser, Addison, New York.

Dear Sir:—

I read in your October 17 edition of my good friend and former classmate, Bob Hills' description of Marine life. As there has always been a little more or less tension between the sailor and marine units I feel it my "duty" to describe briefly the great Navy life and some of its advantages over the Marines, in hopes it may influence some of the local fellows who intend joining the service.

First of all the Navy's pay is considerably greater than the Marine pay. Our life is very exciting and never tiring, being on the move most of the time instead of being stationed at one place for a long period of time. Marine fashion we receive the best of food obtainable and finest of all we have more liberty than money.

There are numerous opportunities of learning a useful trade, to be of great service on the outside upon completion of enlistment; "you learn while you earn". The naval background is usually very beneficial in securing a position outside.

Due to the inevitable conscription of our young men in the very near future I would advise the young fellows to sign up with the Navy now and "get in on the ground floor", the travel itself is an education, not obtainable on the outside.

Hoping this reaches your paper and the young men of our community I remain,

Yours very truly,
William J. Shea

THANKFUL

... for the safety of our shores and the abundance of our harvest ...

... for freedom, and the right to vote, think and speak as we feel ...

... for peace—in an age when nations have gone mad ...

... for the privilege of living in a fine community among the best friends in the world.

Eastern Stars Honor Matrons And Patrons

Past Matrons and Past Patrons of the Tuscarora Chapter Order of Eastern Star, Addison, will be honored guests at a banquet of the Chapter tonight, Thursday in Masonic Hall. All members are asked to be present to pay tribute to the past executive officers of the chapter.

There will be a banquet at 6:30 o'clock followed by a business meeting in the Masonic rooms. The past matrons will be honored by filling the various chairs in the chapter. Mrs. Frances Russ is general chairman in charge of the banquet arrangements. She has chosen her own committee members.

The past matrons who will be honored are: Mrs. Mary Harden, Mrs. Etta Mayers, Mrs. Jennie Toby, Mrs. Ella Aldrich of Elmira, Mrs. Frances Hoyt, Mrs. Mabel Colvin, Mrs. Bessie Laffkas, Mrs. Florence Chart, Mrs. Lillie Chatfield, Mrs. Jessie Brown, Mrs. Ruth Gillespie, Mrs. Addie Nichols, Mrs. Annie Kelly of Houghton, Mrs. Ida Smith, Mrs. Carrie Clark, Mrs. Leah Brown, Mrs. Maude Chart, Miss Lenore Runyan, Mrs. Aletha Laffkas, Miss Rula Laffkas of Rochester, Mrs. Alberta Sherwood and Mrs. Bernice Hoaglin. The past patrons are Hon. E. C. Smith and Elmer D. Hawkins.

The present matron, Mrs. Wilma Mose will present her report of the grand lodge session held recently in New York at which she was a delegate.

NOTICE

Meeting to Hear Complaints:

Take Notice: The Assessors of the Village of Addison have prepared an assessment roll for the year 1941. A copy of which was filed with the Village Clerk on October 29, 1940 and which may be examined at the Hubbs Electric Store during business hours from November 7 to November 19, 1940. On November 19, 1940 at the Court Room in the City Hall between the hours of one and five in the afternoon the Board will meet to complete said assessment roll and hear the complaint of any person who considers himself aggrieved thereby.

W. M. MILLER,
Village Clerk.

Group of Friends Surprise Mrs. D. L. Sherwood

Mrs. D. Lester Sherwood was surprised when a group of friends and neighbors gathered at her home Saturday evening in honor of her birthday. The evening was spent with games and a social time followed by a supper which was enjoyed by the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barrett and son Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Head, John Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. Riskey and two children of North Cameron, the Misses Margaret and Carolyn West and Mrs. Sarah Sherwood of Addison, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Sherwood.

Fall-time is fire-time, the season for chimney fires and rubbish fires. Clean the chimney and examine it for cracks. Don't burn leaves close to the house.
